Resurrection County (2008) Movie Review

By: crazyaboutfilm

I'm not an expert but I am a movie fanatic. So, I will do my best at giving a review. Here goes...

This horror film really took me by surprise. Usually with indie horror films you expect to see cats jumping out of cupboards, horrible dialogue, sloppy effects and unbearable acting. Resurrection County had none of that, thank the heavens. It was scary because the situations were believable, the effects were gruesome, and the acting was short of amazing.

First off, the pace is great. When the movie starts, deep in the Arkansas hills, you have an immediate feeling of isolation. Later when the travelers cross the line with the locals, the anxiety begins to build inside you. At the end of the film your heart is racing and you can barely keep from screaming at the screen!

The gore is wonderful for the true horror fans such as myself. Not the typical axe murders or knife choppings. Effects are creative and just plain raw! There was plenty of blood for two movies, but it just added to the tragic nature of the story.

The beautiful backdrop of the Arkansas landscape makes for a great contrast to the ugliness of the story. Kudos to the camera operator for being able to achieve that! Camera work was smooth and that of an epic film. The shots were all interesting and breathtaking - I totally forgot it was low budget.

I did have a problem with some of the choices for editing. It did get pulled out of the story at times for being a little too stylized and choppy. I felt they were trying a little too hard with that. Overall though, I thought it was a good attempt to be avant garde.

The character development however was spot on. This director should be praised for the performances he got out of these actors! He actually made you feel for the violent and backward villains. All the while though, you were praying for the victims to make it out alive and were sad when

Feed Your Need!

With hundreds of weekly updates on our site we realize its not easy to keep on top of it some did not. There was real life brought to these people.

My favorite thing, selfishly, is how they turned the table on who ends up the true hero of the film! SPOILER ALERT IF YOU READ THE REST OF THIS PARAGRAPH! I'm a woman, and I can't tell you how much I hate that they always portray the woman as the weak bimbo who needs a man to save her! Sorry guys, this doesn't happen. Instead, this film took the weak link, the girl that can't even put a tent together, and transformed her into a woman who found the power within herself to fight! Not just for her, but for her friends and family and...well, I won't give all of it away. She blew me away! I want to give mucho credit to her and the director! Sorry, can't remember either of their names off hand.

All in all, I would rate give this a 10 for an indie! 10 being the highest rating I could give! I would recommend this to all horror fans. Not for anyone under 18 though due to the graphic bloody mess, sexual situations and very strong language.
